

December 19th, 2011

Learn Kitchen Skills From the Master

Posted by Sara Gaynes at 5:05 pm

Hoping to get more kitchen-sawy in 2012? Who better to learn from than Lydia Shire? The culinary director of Towne Stove & Spirits will be opening up her restaurant's kitchen twice a month starting in January for three-hour cooking classes that promise to teach even the most novice chef her signature techniques and recipes (though experienced cooks are welcome as well). After the demo session, students will be able to sample their creations with Prof. Lydia and come back for future meals—every class entry fee ($250 per person) includes a $50 gift certificate to Towne Stove & Spirits.

Want to graduate from Shire's cooking school? Contact info@towneboston.com or call 617-391-2489 to sign up for a class.